Sponsorship Opportunities

The International Phytobiomes Conference brings together a global community of scientists, industry leaders, and agricultural stakeholders advancing systems-level solutions for sustainable agriculture – from fundamental discovery to real-world innovation.

Why This Conference Is Different

Everything under one roof	Talks, posters, lodging, meals, and networking all in a single venue
Multidisciplinary participation	Scientists and industry leaders from diverse disciplines working together on shared challenges
Single-track program	A unique experience where attendees participate in the same discussions, maximizing visibility, engagement, and cross-sector dialogue
Discussion-focused	Interaction and dialogue prioritized over lecture volume
Intimate and highly connected	Relationships develop naturally during sessions, meals, and social events
